

font : Definition

- A font is a set of printed letters and numbers that look the same.

Types of font

This font is called Arial.

This font is called Times New Roman.

This font is called Trebuchet

This font is called Comic Sans.

This font is called Impact

1. Which would you use to write a party invitation?

- Choose a font based on party style and personal preference.
- Comic Sans is popular, but other fonts are available.

2. Which one would you use for a letter to the head teacher?

- Pick a font that is appropriate for formal communication.

3. Which would you use to advertise the school play or fair?

- Brush Script, Impact, Cooper Black, and Balloon are good options.

By the end of this lesson, you will know about:

- Font sized
- Font sized

Remainder:

- Fonts take up a different amount of space on a line because of the way they are designed.
- If you change the font size you can make them appear the same length on a line.

Tasks :

- Compare the writing on posters and signs around the classroom and how is it different? Why do you think we use different styles of writing?

Lesson Summary

- Fonts take up different amounts of space on a line due to their design.
- Changing the font size can make them appear the same length on a line.